

AT&T Fellowship Program

Award Type	Dissertation Funding Graduate Study
Eligibility	U.S. citizen, Women and minority students
Class Eligibility	Graduate Only
Academic Area	Computer Information Systems Computer Engineering Technology Electrical Computer Science Engineering
Deadline	January
Description	AT&T Labs Fellowship is available to outstanding minority and women students who are pursuing PhD studies in computer and communications-related fields.
Award	The Fellowship provides all educational expenses during the school year, including tuition, books, fees, and approved travel expenses; Education expenses for summer study or university research; Stipend for living expenses; Support for attending approved scientific conferences; Mentor who is a staff member at AT&T Labs.
Nomination Requirement	No
Contact	AT&T Labs Fellowship Administrator Room C103 180 Park Ave. Florham Park, NJ 07932-0971
Website	http://www.research.att.com/academic/